I WANT TO COACH BECAUSE:

- “As a part of society and my community, I think it is important to give back. Coaching basketball is a way I can give back to our youth. As a coach I get to add to their IQ, basketball skills, and overall success. We also can teach and point out real life things through the game of basketball. This would include teamwork, learning to never give up when things get tough, and to be selfless. Players will have these life lessons for the rest of their lives. Also, as a coach, I love to see the progress that every player makes throughout each season. It gives you a feeling of accomplishment and confirms that hard work indeed pays off.”
